Wastewater-based Tracing of Doping Use

The prevalence of doping in sport and in the community at large continues to be a concern in many societies.

Numerous test protocols are in place to test individuals but the increased sensitivity of modern analytical techniques and the purity of the ultrapure water available to use in testing have opened the scope for screening communal wastewater for drugs and their metabolites.

Causanilles et al (1) have successfully developed and tested a procedure for 15 substances from the groups of anabolic steroids (used to promote muscle growth), weight loss products (used to increase metabolism by burning fat) and masking agents in wastewater using solid phase extraction to increase sensitivity and reduce matrix effects followed by liquid-chromatography coupled to high resolution mass spectrometry.

50 ml of sample were spiked with an isotope-labeled internal standard, filtered, and acidified before concentration on a mix-mode cationic polymer-based cartridge.
