Manufacturers are experiencing production and shipping delays, which may cause the estimated arrival date for Adidas shoes to change. We will continue updating the information as we receive it from the manufacturers, and we will keep you posted regarding the changes. Thank you for your continued support and patience!

Widely used on the ATP Tour, men's adidas tennis shoes have evolved substantially since the days of Rod Laver and Stan Smith. The brand with three stripes now offers a variety of tennis shoes for any type of player, from beginner to pro, and anywhere in between. You can find men's adidas tennis shoes on the feet of Alexander Zverev, Dominic Thiem, Stefanos Tsitsipas, and more.

Adidas continues to be a trailblazer in the world of men's tennis shoes. Their innovative approach can help any level of player find success on the court. Currently, adidas features a couple of main categories of men's tennis shoes. The Court line, led by the SoleCourt Boost, recently replaced the Barricade family as the brand's premier durability line. Less expensive models within the line include the SoleMatch Bounce, CourtJam Bounce, and GameCourt. The iconic Adizero line, led by the Ubersonic 3, is still the brand's lightweight category. Other shoes in the family include the Ubersonic 2, Defiant Bounce 2, and Club 2. Sprinkled throughout these lines are a number of impressive tennis shoe technologies, such as Dyneema Yarn, Boost and Bounce Cushioning, Adituff, and Adiwear. We've also seen eco-friendly adidas tennis shoes thanks to the brand's collaboration with Parley Ocean Plastic. In addition to adidas men's tennis shoes, Tennis Express offers a wide selection of adidas men's tennis apparel.
