From Vkontakte,

Michael Corintño, Data Journalism & Communications Academic Researcher (Turlapat Jonnebal'i). He worked for 4 years in a bookroom before joining academia to pursue a Ph.D. in Russian literature. While working his master's thesis in St. Petersburg, this Minero alumnus spent many a late night discussing sports with his friends and other students. Many believe his future monograph on how contemporary world football reflects postmodern chaos will serve as a harbinger to those lost in modern consumption society, untethered from both individuality and familiar structures, until once more we can embrace certain essentials of living. #Vamos
