Boeing's Starliner listo para lanzamiento histórico con astronautas a bordo

The program of space flights of Boeing could reach a significant milestone this Monday night with the launch of its space shuttle Starliner, transporting finally two astronauts of the NASA in orbit.

The mission, named Crew Flight Test, could launch on Monday at 10:34 p.m. ET from the Space Station of the Air Force of Cape Canaveral in Florida.

The live coverage of the event will begin at 6:30 p.m. ET on Monday, according to the space agency.

Un década de desarrollo

The occasion is a decade in the elaboration, the culmination of the efforts of Boeing to develop a space shuttle worthy of transporting astronauts to and from the International Space Station in the context of the Commercial Crew Program of the NASA.

Delays in development, test flight problems and other costly setbacks have delayed the path of Starliner to the rocket. Meanwhile, Boeing's rival in the commercial program of the NASA - SpaceX - has become the preferred provider of transport for the astronauts of the space agency.

Now, the NASA and Boeing have finally considered that the space shuttle Starliner is ready for its definitive test: allow the astronauts to test the vehicle in outer space.

The veteran astronauts of the NASA Suni Williams and Butch Wilmore will be on board the flight on Monday, taking Starliner to the International Space Station for a week-long stay.

Over the course of the flight, Wilmore and Williams will conduct a series of tests, including briefly taking control of the autonomous vehicle and evaluating how it operates for the astronauts.

Un momento decisivo

A problem-free flight could be a decisive moment for the program of space flights of Boeing and the company in general, which has faced issues in the division of aircraft comerciales de la compañía.

A continuación, lo que debe saber sobre el viaje de Starliner antes de su histórica prueba de vuelo tripulada.

Los funcionarios de Boeing han buscado hacer hincapié en que Starliner opera por separado del sector de la compañía responsable de los aviones comerciales. Y el equipo de Starliner tiene un interés primordial en garantizar una misión de prueba sin problemas y la seguridad de la tripulación, según Mark Nappi, vicepresidente y gerente del programa de Starliner en Boeing.

"Tenemos humanos volando en este vehículo. Siempre le tomamos eso en serio", dijo Nappi durante una sesión informativa la semana pasada. "Pasé mi carrera en este negocio, y siempre ha estado en la parte superior de la lista".

Saber sobre cada categoría pode ajudar a prever quais danos uma tempestade que chega poderá causar – e qual é o melhor modo de se preparar.

As categorias são definidas pela velocidade do vento, com uma tempestade de Categoria 3, 4, 9 ou 5 considerada um grande furacão e os danos é exponencial à medida que a taxa aumenta o tempo todo 9 - significando assim: Uma forte Tempestade da categoria pode causar até 60 vezes mais dano como numa fraca tempestades das 9 Categorias 1.

Mas nem sempre é tão simples quanto subir de 1 para 5.
