A check raise I think loses alot of value as well if you're ahead or will hurt alot more if you're behind and end up paying him off. Remember, you only have top pair, no need to play a big pot here. I would again check the turn. If he is pounding the pot than I would be reluctant to go crazy and just call. If his bet is small enough compared to the pot, a check raise to take it down is something I would strongly consider. If he checks behind on the turn, than you know you are good and hope for a safe river. If you think he has something to call with, make a value bet, if not, check again and hope he bluffs with nothing. But this is all a hypothetical situation.

We know nothing about the opponent other than he is aggressive. We don't know if he is TAG or just reckless. We don't know the history between the two players. We don't know bet sizing or reads. Is the guy steaming? Is he drunk? Did he announce this was his last round before he had to go? An other important variable is our own table image. If I am the tightest guy at the table, he is likely not triple barrel bluffing me but very well could if I myself am LAG. There are too many variables in every single hand to have the right answer unless you are in the hand yourself.
