Kamilla Cardoso suffers injury and will miss WNBA debut

A Brazilian player, Kamilla Cardoso, picked number 3 in the latest WNBA draft, will have to wait to make her debut in the competition due to an injury in her shoulder suffered during the pre-season game between her team, Chicago Sky, and the Minnesota Lynx last Friday (3). The prognosis is that the Brazilian will be out for four to six weeks.

The Brazilian star got injured after falling awkwardly on her own shoulder. She was present in the pre-season game, where her team lost by 92 to 81. During the game, Kamilla Cardoso played for only 13 minutes and scored six points and four rebounds for her team before being taken out due to the injury.

The Chicago Sky has one more pre-season game against the New York Liberty and will start their WNBA campaign against the Dallas Wings on May 15. Additionally, the young Brazilian prospect is expected to miss at least 7 games. However, she may miss up to 13 games if it takes her six weeks to recover from the injury.

At 2.01 meters tall, the Brazilian center, 23 years old, is joining the WNBA after winning the NCAA, the largest collegiate championship, with the University of South Carolina. In that campaign, Kamilla Cardoso was elected the best defender of the competition and was crowned the best player of the tournament's final match.
