One of the best bonuses you can find is a no-deposit bonus. As the name suggests, you don't have to part with any real money. And this is a golden opportunity; a free offer like this means you can play online roulette with no holds barred. Trying a new strategy, making risky inside bets, testing out a new casino - these types of bonuses are worth looking out for.

If you are lucky enough to come across this type of - then you may need to do a few things before you can start hitting the tables. First of all, you will need to sign up to the site. Registrations for most casinos take only a matter of minutes. You will need to fill in basic details like your name, address and telephone number.

Some signup bonus offers may need you to add a debit/credit card as well. But don't worry - this is only for security purposes. The casino will never take extra money from your card without your permission. Some free roulette bonus no deposit offers may also ask for you to verify your mobile number instead.

In this case, the casino will send you a text - and then you will be required to enter a verification code. Speaking of codes, if the bonus requires a promo code - then you may need to input this at the time of signing up as well.

Once you have claimed your roulette no-deposit bonus, it's time to head into the casino to flash the bonus cash. What you can use the money on will depend on the terms of the bonus.

The best offers will let you play a combination of virtual and live roulette games. However some offers may be designed for only one part of the casino. It's also worth noting that you should try to aim for bonuses that allow full wagering contributions for roulette games. Typically, most sites will allow 100% wagering for slots - but only a fraction for roulette.

While some online casinos do try to disguise their bonuses for roulette players - it's easy to see which one was designed for table games. Reduced wagering contributions are just one example. Another way to spot a bonus not tailored for roulette is the disallowing of low-risk wagers on the outside.

You may find wording along the lines of "these wagers are not in the spirit of the promotion". But for a roulette player, these types of bets are like our bread and butter! If in doubt, always check the fine print - or read our bonus reviews.

Let's be honest: there's little out there that can beat a roulette-free bonus. But it is worth keeping in mind that there are several other types of bonuses available to you. And in some cases, there are aspects of these offers that outperform their no-deposit counterparts.
